The latest results on the impact of filtration and the effects of the transport conditions of bottled wine upon its quality, two critical steps in the entire process, will be presented at this seminar, The current New Perspectives of Precision Enology will also be addressed.

A better understanding of the entire process from grape to the consumer, as a result of the various activities and studies that have been made, are an increasingly important tool at the service of all technical staff. Every year, as a result of research activities, several articles related to oenology are published. Many of them corroborate several practices already implemented and many other introduce novelties and new technologies to the traditional process.

It is with this purpose that ARTE arises, in order to promote some of the work done and to make an analysis on the progress regarding the most Recent Advances in Wine Technology, trying not to forget "where do we want to go next".
